Death of John Jaeger.

John Jaeger, a well known resident and business man, died at his home in Maple Street Monday morning after a lingering iffness of several months duration. Mr. Jaeger was 54 years of e. He was born in Wurtemburg, Germany, and came to this country when about 25 years of age. He worked in the meat business in Newark when he first came to this country. About twenty-six years ago Mr. Jaeger and a partner named John Frank bought out ness of Adam Metz in Maple Street and conducted it under the firm name of Jaeger & Frank, Mr. Jaeger he built his Glenwood Avenue market, Mr. Jaeger was esteemed in business circles for his unimpeachable honesty. His credit was high and his word was his bond. He was industrious and economic in his business life. He was for several years a director in the Essex County Building and Loan Association. He was one of the charter members of Excelsior Hose Company, and served sixteen years in the fire department, Boers of the E yes County Republican He belonged to the Exempt Piremen's mittee took place but night. Good Feeling Exists.

The recent dinner given by the Lackawanna conductors at Hoboken, on the occasion of the annual election of Morris Division, No. 291, Order of Railway Conductors, and which was presided over by Mr. Charles H. Ketcham, Superintendent of the Morris and Essex Divislon, shows that the best of feeling exlate between the conductors and the management. Mr. Katcham, since his William 8. Pierson Women's Relief advent in Lackswanns circles, has made parish, they have at the same time earned that he is eminently just in his decisions, and ever ready to accord recognition and reward for services in the company's interests well and faithfully performed,—Railroad Employee, Ran Over Hose.

A big blaze in the direction of Ampere on Saturday evening started a rumor in Watseesing that the Crocker-Wheeler her of people ran to the scene of the fire. The burning building was a brass foundry near the Electric Works. Trains on the Luckawanna Railroad were delayed on account of the firemen's hose being laid across the tracks. One of the railroad engineers disregarded the firemen's signals, and two lines of hose were cut and rendered useless, and the supply of water was out off.

Soap Boxers Christmas Meeting.

The Christmes entertainment under the suspices of the Soap Box Club took place on Saturday evening of last week. A full circle surrounded the pot stove, and some of the boxes had to be turned on their side to accommodate two sitters. E. L. Williams of the Harrison Organ Company, presided. After disposing of a quantity of crackers and cheese, the soap boxers indulged in a free discussion of a variety of topics. The change at the post-office was gone over, and every member had an explanation of it to offer. One speaker vented his indignation because Mr. Powers did not give an opportunity for a Lee fight for the office. The member from the corner said that Mr. Powers was the slickest man that ever came down the local political pike.

Speaking about the pike, said an Orange Street member, reminds me that "my horse won't eat oats." "That," retorted a Lake Street member, "is because he has been fed so long on saw dust and oyster shells that he has forgotten how to est oats." The Orange Street man glared angrily at the Lake Street man, and the chairman speedily called for order and reminded the members that it was Christmas time and nothing but brotherly love should prevail.

Speaking about oate, said the member from the fire department, makes me think of the price of corn; and I was figuring up the other day how many kernels of corn one egg would buy, and I found that my chickens were alosing speculation." The member from Fairview took exception to the statement and said "if science was properly applied to poultry raising there was money in it," and he showed a prosperoue financial statement from his hennery of seventeen chickens. "It is well for us," said the Lake Street man "that these soda crackers are not made of corn meal or they would be worth their weight in gold."

The club, committee ou statistics figured out that the Fairview man's hens each laid 192 eggs per annum, and the President of the club ordered that a challenge be issued to the Ozone bill poultry yard to beat the showing. Complaint was made that one member of the club did not keep his horse in proper trim and the President directed that the delinquent member take the election was discussed and a committee appointed to make out a slate for the spring.
